CLUB NOTES

Official Organ State Federation of Clubs

The election of Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles president of the general federation of women's clubs has been the sole topic of conversation in club circles. Everyone is delighted that a western woman has been chosen to head the federation and especially pleased that she should be Mrs. Cowles. They have not forgotten the time in Cincinnati, when at the convention, Mrs. Philip Moore, the president, suffered an accident and Mrs. Cowles, as first vice president, was called upon at a moment's notice to preside and carry out the business of the convention, her superior officer being absent.

Her election to the presidency would have been unanimous at the San Francisco biennial had she consented to the nomination, but as precedent has never placed a president from the hostess state and as Mrs. Cowles greatly desired that California should entertain the convention that year, she absolutely refused to consider it.

But the women remembered, and with their proverbial tenacity to the right and the good, they waited until this year to elect the woman they believe will carry the federation to heights never before attained.

It is in the summer months that the actual work of the Woman's club bazaar held in December is accomplished. During the vacation period many beautiful and attractive novelties that are exhibited at the annual sale are gathered together by the club women either on their travels or at home. Many otherwise idle moments are passed in the exquisitely time needwork that finds ready sale at the bazaar. Mrs. Selma J. Mitchell, as chairman of the committee in charge realizes the months it requires to prepare for such an event and has already appointed the chairman of the various departments.

Mrs. J. G. Van Leuwen and Mrs. Ira J. Johnson will serve on the general bazaar committee with Mrs. Michelson. Mrs. E. T. Collins will be in charge of the needlework and bags, Mrs. Henry C. Lockett of the country store, Mrs. Anell Martin, the Japanese tea bag, Mrs. George Lilley of the grab bag, Mrs. B. E. Marks the apron booth, Mrs. Dwight B. Heard, the doll and baby booth; Mrs. Pen Hildreth, candy and flower stand; Miss May Noble, the art booth; Mrs. Elton Edgins Hale, household decoration and Mrs. R. M. Tafel will be in charge of the cafeteria dinner. There will also be a fortune telling booth and many other novel features that will tend toward making the event a jolly, social occasion as well as a bazaar. Immediately following the late dinner there will be a dance that will be the feature of the evening.

Co-operation in Acquiring the State President's Traveling Fund By Etta Gifford Young

It may be of interest to the readers of "Club Notes" to be given a resume of the plan for securing a $5000 traveling fund for the state president of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Arizona and to know what is being done toward the procurement of that fund.

Though the result is still meagre, some interest has been aroused. Your chairman, traveling as she does about the state for a firm of west coast importers, has met many charming women, officers of the various women's clubs of Arizona, and with them has planned ways and means of securing the co-operation of their club members and the raising of the necessary $500 or $1000 to put the club on the Honor Roll or the Founders' List. I have invariably been asked to appear before the clubs of the towns which I have visited and personally acquaint them with the object of the fund and to discuss with them the means of securing it. This I have always declined to do, feeling that my time during the day belonged to the firm whose salary I accept, but I hope to so arrange affairs the coming season that I may be able to respond to those invitations and thus secure much greater results.

Briefly the plan of the fund is this: To collect a $5000 endowment fund to be invested in legal securities, such as U. S. bonds; state bonds; city bonds, or first mortgages on improved real estate; the accruing interest to provide a sum to pay all reasonable traveling expenses of the federation president when she visits the Biennial (National Convention of Women's Clubs of the U. S.) every two years and each club of Arizona annually.

This fund is under the management of three trustees, now consisting of Mrs. John Dennett, Jr., of Phoenix; Mrs. Geo. B. Marsh of Nogales and Mrs. Will Griffin of Flagstaff, elected for a term of two (2), four (4) and six (6) years respectively. Until the fund is collected there is a field chairman, at present Mrs. Etta Gifford Young of Phoenix.

The trustees will have the responsibility of investing the fund when it is secured and will aid in the work of gathering it, according to a plan recently formulated, by writing personal letters to the clubs urging the necessity of helping to provide the traveling fund and mentioning the fact that the field chairman expects to visit their town sometime during the ensuing season and will appear before their club in the interests of the fund. Doubtless these personal letters will be of great assistance.

There are at present 2500 club women in the state; clubs in twelve of the fourteen counties and 44 clubs in the federation. It is expected that many of the larger clubs, will within the year, bring their donations up to the $100 mark, thus becoming members of the "Founders' Fund" and that the smaller ones will reach the "Honor Roll" by contributing $50. It has been decided however, to insist upon each federated club paying, at least, its just proportion of the fund each year until the $5000 is secured. For convenience the clubs have been arranged as follows:

No. Clubs	Membership	Amt per yr.
12	19 to 25	$ 10.00
13	26 to 50	20.00
6	51 to 100	30.00
3	101 to 200	40.00
3	201 to 300	50.00
		$960.00

As there are no salaries or expense charges against the fund this would assure $960.00 per year and the completion of the fund in five years, with the addition of the sum now on deposit at the Phoenix Title and Trust Co. It will of course be impossible to secure the fund in time to be of any benefit to the present incumbent of the presidential chair, Mrs. H. A. Morgan of Wilcox, or her immediate successor, though one feels assured that the clubs will contribute more than their allotted amount yearly and that many generous minded individuals will add their names and the necessary contribution to the Founders' List.

I am frequently asked to suggest methods of raising money by the various clubs. I here repeat some of those used by the different clubs over the state. The "Experience Meeting" plan is excellent if it has not been "overworked" in your town. The club decided upon the sum to be raised—let us say $50.00—it has 25 members who agree to earn by personal effort two dollars apiece in a given time. An "experience" meeting is then held and the ladies tell, either orally or in rhyme, how their money was earned. This plan affords much amusement; it makes the raising of the money absolutely co-operative and where it has not been used so frequently that its novelty is worn off, it always gets the money.

Other clubs, where any surplus money is in the treasury is divided among departments, tax each department its proportion of the sum. Some clubs set aside a certain per cent of all money collected during the year, to meet this obligation. There are clubs who tax each member a certain sum; others held cooked food sales—either in the form of a bazaar or dinner or by getting a kindly groceryman to sell cakes, pies, etc., each Saturday. Home-made candy sold in a booth placed in a conspicuous spot in town during a local celebration with girl and boy distributors selling the boxed goodies among the passing throng, has proven a successful method in certain communities. One club noted for the progressive, ness and energy of its members, secured the entire receipts of a moving picture theater one night each week, for a given length of time, to aid in raising a library fund. This plan could be used in raising the "traveling" fund, though I would suggest making it a more businesslike proposition by going on a "50-50" basis with the proprietor of the amusement house and then helping the "business" by having an announcement of "Club Night at the Blank Theater" made at public gatherings, in the local paper, personally to friends and acquaintances and in any other way that is appropriate and effective.

A wide awake merchant with a sense of advertising values, will hold frequently a "White Sale" or some similar sale, giving a certain per cent of the proceeds to the club fund. If he does, make it a success by buying any necessary goods for your household from him at that time and have your friends do likewise.

Now a few words more and I have done. Let no woman say in her heart or to her neighbor, this is just a scheme to let some woman travel around the state and have a good time. The woman who accepts the presidency of the state federation, must be an executive of high order if she is to be successful. She must be an organizer, tactful and resourceful, forceful in speech, able to arouse enthusiasm and energy in her hearers. She must have the health to endure the strain of long, dusty rides in local trains, in automobiles over roads that apparently exist to afford an abiding place for the dust filled chuck-hole; frequently she must accept such hospitality as the country tavern or the small town hostess is able to provide; she must carry on a voluminous correspondence, furnishing the
